High court orders tapes yielded

Justices return 8-0 decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 8 to 0 today that President Nixon must surrender White House tapes and papers wanted in connection with the Watergate cover-up trial.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, a Nixon appointee, delivered the opinion of the court.

"We conclude that when the ground for asserting privilege as to subpoenaed materials sought for use in a criminal trial is based only on the generalized interest in confidentiality, it cannot prevail over the fundamental demands of due process of law in the fair administration of criminal justice," Burger said.

It was not immediately clear how the President would respond to the court's ruling.

In arguments before the court, his lawyer, James D. St. Clair, said the case was "being submitted to this court for its guidance and judgment with respect to the law."

"The President, on the other hand, has his obligations under the Constitution," St. Clair said.

President Nixon promised during a similar dispute with Jaworski's predecessor, Archibald Cox, that he would comply with a definitive ruling of the Supreme Court on whether he had to turn over tapes sought by Cox.

That case never reached the Supreme Court, however, and Nixon and other White House spokesmen have consistently refused to repeat that pledge in the dispute with Jaworski.

At a news conference Monday night, St. Clair again declined under repeated questioning to say whether Nixon would obey a Supreme Court order in the case.

The 8-0 ruling appeared to be about as strong a statement as the court could have made on the subject.

After delivering the opinion, the court recessed until 10 a.m. on Thursday.

Michael Rodak Jr., the clerk of the court, said a decision was expected at that time on an appeal from a lower court order calling for busing of pupils across school district lines for purposes of racial integration in the Detroit area.

The court ruled that the dispute between the President and Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski was subject to determination in the courts, contrary to Nixon's assertion that it was not on grounds it was a dispute within the

GOP solon backs ousting of Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's hopes of avoiding impeachment have suffered a setback on the eve of the House Judiciary Committee's historic debate today.

Rep. Lawrence J. Hogan, a conservative and one of those committee Republicans counted on to oppose impeachment, announced Tuesday he supports impeachment.

Hogan is the first committee Republican to announce he will vote for impeachment. His decision touched off open talk of impeachment in the Republican cloak room.

The debate, beginning at 7:30 p.m. EDT, will be carried nationally on television and radio. A vote on whether to recommend impeachment is expected by Friday or Saturday.

Hogan's announcement triggered a prediction by one GOP member that as many as seven of the 17 committee Republicans may end up calling for Nixon's impeachment. Hogan said in an interview Tuesday night that he expected eight Republicans to vote for impeachment. All 21 Democrats are believed ready to vote for at least one article of impeachment.

Another GOP member, who said he has expected about 40 Republicans to vote for impeachment, raised his estimate to 80 after Hogan's views became known.

Rep. John B. Anderson of Illinois, the third-ranking Republican in the House, said, "It seems to me quite obvious that

Mr. Hogan's statement is convincing evidence that the committee is disposed to vote one or more articles and I would gather that the House

Fair in high gear

By MARK REA

Although the skies were threatening most of the day, the rain postponed its visit to the Fayette County Fair with the exception of a shower Tuesday morning.

A total of 2,936 paying customers swarmed through the gates after 4 p.m. as the Fair's activities shifted into high gear.

Scott Jenks' barrow was chosen as the grand champion in the Junior Fair swine show and Brad Walters' barrow was selected as the reserve grand champion. Their hogs will be auctioned first at 6 p.m. Wednesday in the sales arena.

In other livestock activity, market lambs were weighed in preparation for Wednesday's Junior Fair sheep show, and open class and Junior Fair dairy cattle judging took place on Tuesday night.

THE FIRST part of the flower show, the specimen judging, was FUN AT THE FAIR — There is something for everyone at the Fayette County Fair, especially the children. These two youngsters seem to be enjoying one of the many rides along the midway. The fair is in full swing Wednesday with the Junior Fair hog sale heading the days' list of activities. It is slated for the show arena at 6 p.m.

Haldeman 'other President'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Haldeman was the alter ego, Haldeman was almost the other President. I can't emphasize that enough."

Thus did former White House aide Alexander P. Butterfield describe the role of H.R. Haldeman to the House Judiciary Committee, according to testimony the committee released today.

Butterfield, who first publicly disclosed the existence of the presidential tapes, was the first of nine witnesses who testified before the Judiciary Committee in its impeachment inquiry.

Part of his testimony was devoted to a catalog of often petty details of White House housekeeping, such as "whether or not the curtains were closed or open," that he said drew the President's attention.

The committee released Butterfield's testimony in a volume that also included that of former Nixon campaign aides Paul O'Brien and Frederick C. LaRue. O'Brien and LaRue were involved in arranging the payment of legal expenses for Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr.

Butterfield, now head of the Federal Aviation Administration, spent nearly nine hours testifying in closed session, during which time he described in detail the President's work habits and his relationships to his staff.

He made it clear that the closest staff man to the President was his staff chief, Haldeman.

"Haldeman was his righthand man," Butterfield told the committee. "He counted so heavily on Haldeman's presence, on Haldeman being at the other end of telephone within reach when he buzzed."

At one point, committee associate counsel Albert Jenner asked:

"During all your time at the White House, Mr. Butterfield, and to the extent of your personal knowledge, no guessing, was there ever any occasion that came to your knowledge of Mr. Haldeman withholding any information from the President?"

"No, sir, never," replied Butterfield. Later, James D. St. Clair, Nixon defense lawyer, asked Butterfield: "But you really are not in a position to speak with any degree of personal observation as to what Mr. Haldeman said or didn't say to the President, isn't that right?"

"I would tend to disagree with you," replied Butterfield. "I think I was in probably the best possible position. However, I do agree with you that I didn't actually observe."

Butterfield served as deputy assistant to the President from Nixon's first day in office until March 14, 1973. Among his duties was insuring the smooth operation of the President's day.

He described a typical presidential day as beginning at 8:15 a.m. with a reading of the daily news summary. At 8:35, the President would buzz for Haldeman.

"It was always his habit to buzz for

New leaders in Greece, Cyprus

By The Associated Press

Constantine Caramanlis was sworn in as premier of Greece early today, apparently ending seven years of military dictatorship for the country that gave the world democracy.

There was also a change of presidents in the rebel Greek Cypriot regime on Cyprus. A supporter of ousted President Makarios was named, and in New York Makarios said he expected to return to the presidency in a few weeks.

News dispatches from Cyprus reported only scattered fighting Tuesday. But United Nations forces reported a number of cease-fire violations, and the Security Council adopted a new resolution demanding compliance with the truce that began Monday.

Hundreds of thousands of jubilant Greeks thronged the streets of Athens, dancing, singing, hugging and kissing, after the announcement that "the armed forces have decided to transfer power to a civilian government" headed by Caramanlis, the elder statesman of Greek democracy and a self-exile in Paris for 11 years.

Caramanlis, 67, told a cheering crowd at the Athens airport early this morning: "I know that the Greek people in difficult moments are united, and together I hope we will be able to construct a new democracy."

Chanting "no mockery, true democracy," cheering crowds lined his route into the city, and he went at once to a meeting at the parliament building with leaders of the military dictatorship, civilian politicians who have been in limbo for the past seven years, and two foreign ambassadors, Henry Tasca of the United States and Robin Hooper of Britain.

The government radio said the ambassadors were called in to receive a protest against alleged Turkish violations of the cease-fire on Cyprus.

The conference lasted for two hours and then Caramanlis, presumably satisfied that the military leaders would return to the barracks and give him a free hand, was sworn in. The oath was administered by Archbishop Seraphim in the presence of President Phaedon Gizikis, a general who was installed last November when a conservative group of generals overthrew the previous military dictator, President George Papadopoulos.

The government radio said Caramanlis would announce his cabinet later today.

The military regime's decision to call on Caramanlis came after widespread international condemnation of the coup on Cyprus, for which Athens was generally blamed; the successful Turkish invasion of the island, and the failure of the Greek regime to give any military support to its Greek Cypriot wards against the invaders.

The rebel Cypriot regime also was tottering. The president installed by the

Landmark relocated

The historic World War I German 104 mm cannon, which has been a familiar memorial on the Courthouse lawn since the late 1920s, was relocated Tuesday morning to its new site on the lawn of the Fayette County Museum, corner of Columbus and Washington avenues.

The cannon was moved to make way for a new war memorial monument honoring Fayette County soldiers who gave their lives during World War II, the Korean conflict and the Vietnam war.

The concrete base for the big gun was relocated Friday by a wrecker donated by Ted Warner and he was assisted by workers from the county road department. Part of the base was set in front of the museum to be reconstructed. The cannon was towed through the downtown area Tuesday by Warner's wrecker to the museum.

Big still confiscated

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP)—A 74-year-old man faces a variety of charges stemming from the confiscation of what federal agents called "one of the biggest stills in Ohio" near New Lexington.

Federal Agent Robert Van Cott announced Tuesday the arrest of William Hoy of Old New Straitsville. Cott said Hoy faces charges of possession of an unregistered distillery, possession of mash and possession of untaxed whiskey.

Perry County Sheriff Thomas Wilson said a raid Monday uncovered a 200-gallon still full of moonshine, 640 gallons of fermenting mash and 85 gallons of bottled whiskey.

Authorities said the raid followed a six-month investigation by the U.S. Treasury Department's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms; the Perry County Sheriff's Department; the county prosecutor's office and the "still squad" of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

TRACTOR PULL — Above is a picture taken by Record-Herald employe Brian Balzer at a tractor pull held in Greenfield Saturday. It demonstrates the enormous machines used in such events. Two tractors were used in combination in the open class. One of the rigs had a 440 cubic inch engine, the other a twin engine consisting of a 440 and a 198 Buick V-6. Similar souped-up tractors are slated to compete in the tractor pull at the Fayette County Fairground Thursday night.

Politics to fore in impeachment

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — In calling for President Nixon's impeachment, Rep. Lawrence J. Hogan has graphically illustrated the political side of the forthcoming congressional struggle.

Both politics and the merits of the case will influence the determination of Nixon's fate by House and Senate members, many of whom will face the voters this November.

And several House members said privately it is a significant sign of the way political winds are blowing when a candidate for governor in a border state that Nixon carried easily in 1972 feels he must now call for impeachment.

Republican Hogan is running for the Maryland governorship.

"That is what happens when a guy has a pollster," one Democrat commented. "A lot of them will start getting polls in the next few weeks."

Both Republicans and Democrats saw Hogan's candidacy as a major

Impeachment television scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tonight's opening session of the House Judiciary Committee debate on the impeachment of President Nixon will be televised live on ABC-TV and on various Public Broadcasting System stations.

The proceedings are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. EDT.

The National Public Radio system has said it will carry the debate live from start to finish. CBS has said its radio network also will carry the debate live but will break away for its regular six-minute hourly newscasts.

NBC Radio and ABC Radio have said they will air the debate live only when developments warrant. The Mutual Broadcasting System has said it plans to carry daily highlights in special evening programs.

TV networks are rotating coverage but each can carry the debate if it wishes.

NBC and CBS said they had no plans for live coverage of the opening session. A spokeswoman for PBS said the public television system would televise the opening debate to its conclusion but would not offer live coverage on succeeding days. She said PBS would tape the debates for rebroadcast at 7:30 p.m. EDT, even if live debate is under way at that time.

Under the rotational system for the major networks, CBS would be called on to broadcast the proceedings Thursday. CBS News President Richard S. Salant said he had received a tentative schedule of debate for the day, calling for a 10 a.m. start, 12:30 p.m. recess, a session from 2 to 7 p.m. and then another two hours if necessary starting at 8 p.m.

NBC has live coverage responsibility Friday.

County Fair

held Tuesday afternoon and the 4-H fashion revue capped the day's activities.

On tap at the grandstand was a bit 14-race card for the harness racing enthusiasts. A free grandstand seat afforded anyone the opportunity to watch Knight Baroness take the Ohio Colt Racing Association's two-year-old pace, or two witness Coal Smoke take the OCRA's two-year-old trot, or to share in the handsome daily double, which paid a total of $152.60.

Tuesday's paid crowd was much better than last year when drenching rains flooded the fair and the races were forced to be cancelled. With this year's Tuesday attendance, the three-day total for the 1974 Fair stands at over 8,000 persons.

Attendance so far is running "quite a bit ahead of last year's rain-plagued pace," according to George Finley, fair secretary.

Wednesday should be a peak day at the Fair. Featured will be the hog sale, market lamb judging, 16 harness races and free grandstand admission, and, according to the weatherman, sunny skies and warm temperatures.

reason why he became the first GOP member of the Judiciary Committee to call for impeachment.

"All I wish is that more of you guys were running for governor," Rep. James C. Corman, D-Calif., a likely pro-impeachment congressman, kidded Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah, a Judiciary Committee member and a Senate candidate.

Rep. Dan Kuykendall, R-Tenn., commented: "I think it's a cool way to run for governor of Maryland—if he wins. If he loses, it's a miserable way."

Republicans contended that Maryland presents a special case: Its last two governors have been Republican Spiro T. Agnew, who resigned the vice presidency because of political scandal, and Democrat Marvin Mandel, whose administration has been the target of grand jury probes.

In running against Mandel, Hogan plans to rely heavily on the issue of alleged corruption, so a decision to call for President Nixon's impeachment may have been a political necessity.

If Hogan had been seeking re-election in his conservative suburban district, one Maryland politician said, he might well have sided with the President.

"It all depends on your constituency," a Democrat noted, pointing out that many Republicans have a special problem since they depend for victory on combining a hard core of pro-Nixon Republicans with independents likely to favor impeachment.

Hogan said he based his decision on the evidence, saying it "convinced me that my President has lied to the American people."

Republican counsel Sam Garrison, however, pointed a way Monday for GOP members to ignore the evidence, telling the Judiciary Committee it must weigh the evidence against the "political" judgment of what serves "the best interests of the country."

executive branch.

"It is theoretically possible for the attorney general to amend or revoke the regulation defining the special prosecutor's authority," Burger wrote. "But he has not done so. So long as this regulation remains in force the executive branch is bound by it."

Justice William H. Rehnquist, a Nixon appointee and former assistant attorney general under John N. Mitchell did not participate in the case.

Mitchell is one of the defendants in the Watergate cover-up trial scheduled for this fall, Jaworski wants the tapes as evidence in that trial.

The Supreme Court also ruled that: —The material sought by Jaworski satisfied a federal court rule that subpoenaed material be useful and relevant as evidence in the trial for which it is sought.

—The doctrine of separation of powers and the need for confidentiality of high-level communications within the executive branch does not mean that the President has an absolute privilege to withhold material from the courts under all circumstances.

—In a case such as the coverup trial in which the claim of confidentiality is not based on grounds of military or diplomatic secrecy, the President's assertion of privilege must yield to the need for the evidence.

The Supreme Court upheld U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's finding that "the judiciary, not the President, was the final arbiter of a claim of executive privilege."

The Supreme Court declined to rule on an additional question raised by the President, whether the Watergate grand jury exceeded its authority in naming him as an indicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up.

The court said it had "improvidently granted" the President's petition that it decide this issue, meaning it made a mistake in hearing arguments on the question in the first place.

The court held that Sirica's order was subject to appeal, although normally in such cases an appeal is not in order until the person to whom the subpoena has been addressed has declined to comply with it and has been cited for contempt.

"The issue whether a President can be cited for contempt could itself engender protracted litigation and would further delay both review on the merits of his claim of privilege and the ultimate termination of the underlying criminal action for which his evidence is sought," said Burger.

Generally fair weather today and Thursday is the prediction of the National Weather Service for Ohio. It comes from a weak high pressure system extending from the Great Lakes to the mid Mississippi River Valley.

The high will move slowly eastward across Ohio to bring the fair weather. Low pressure over the Dakotas will move across the northern Great Lakes Thursday with a cold front trailing off to the southwest from the low. This cold front will be approaching and bringing a threat of showers to Ohio about Friday.

A slow warming trend is expected with high temperatures this afternoon, ranging from the mid 70s to the low 80s. By Thursday afternoon readings from 80 to 85 are likely.

There was some fog over most of the state early today. At dawn temperature readings ranged from 55 degrees at Toledo to 70 at Ironton.

A chance of showers Friday, becoming fair Saturday and Sunday. Highs in the 80s. Lows in the 60s.

would follow suit, from what I hear in the corridors."

One southerner said after the Hogan announcement, "This had a profound psychological impact. Many Republicans who were not on anybody's list for impeachment were talking for the first time today about their votes for it as being possible or probable."

Hogan, a candidate for governor of Maryland, told a packed news conference that after examining the evidence before the Judiciary Committee, he is convinced Nixon had committed impeachable offenses and should be removed from office.

He said he had entered the impeachment proceedings with three considerations.

"The allegations had to be impeachable offenses with proof of criminality proven beyond a shadow of a doubt."

"The evidence convinces me that my President has lied repeatedly, deceiving public officials and the American people," said Hogan, a political conservative and former FBI agent.

Addressing a main argument raised by Nixon defenders, that impeachment would weaken the presidency, Hogan said, "In my view if we do not impeach the President after all that he has done, we would be weakening the presidency even more."

Hogan said he received two telephone calls from the White House before his news conference, which he did not return, and one from Vice President Gerald R. Ford. He said Ford only questioned the timing of his announcement and did not try to influence him.

Appearing on the House floor shortly after his announcement, Hogan met with hostility as well as sympathy. He said one member greeted his arrival with "let's hear it for Larry Hogan" followed by a loud raspberry.

He also was denounced by White House counselor Dean Burch, who said Hogan was motivated by his political ambitions.

Hogan, one of Nixon's most vocal supporters on the committee during the inquiry, said "the body blow" to his support for the President was the transcripts of presidential conversations.

At least four other committee Republicans—Hamilton Fish Jr. of New York, William S. Cohen of Maine, M. Caldwell Butler of Virginia and Thomas F. Railsback of Illinois—have indicated they might vote for impeachment.

In an effort to assure their support Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., has been letting the four Republicans provide suggestions for the proposed articles of impeachment that will be put before the committee for debate.

Final drafting will be worked out in secret caucuses today, but it now appears that only three articles will be presented, one charging Nixon with obstruction of justice in the Watergate cover-up, one with abuses of power for wiretapping American citizens and using the Internal Revenue Service for political purposes, and one charging him with contempt of Congress for refusing to comply with committee subpoenas.

By 21-16, the committee decided to vote on each proposed article of impeachment before going on to the next one.

Rodino has allotted each of the 38 members 15 minutes for general debate, which should take until Thursday evening. Then the impeachment articles will be considered with each member allowed five minutes debate on each article and amendments.

The opening committee debate will be televised live on ABC-TV and on various Public Broadcasting System stations. The three major TV networks are rotating coverage.

If a committee majority recommends impeachment, the full House will vote with a majority needed there to impeach Nixon.

The next step would be a Senate trial. A two-thirds majority would be needed to convict Nixon, removing him from office.

Senate leaders have authorized preparations for a possible impeachment trial of the President.

Stock list near even

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed little change today as the Supreme Court decision in the White House tapes case produced no visible reaction in trading on Wall Street.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down .71 at 797.01, while gainers and losers stood almost exactly in balance on the New York Stock Exchange.

Prices opened mixed and stayed that way after the Supreme Court affirmed a lower court's order requiring President Nixon to turn over 64 tapes in connection with the Watergate case.

"This appears to demonstrate that inflation and interest rates are much more important to investors than the impeachment question," said Robert Stovall at Reynolds Securities.

Citicorp was the most-active NYSE issue, unchanged at 35 1/2. The bank holding company's widely discussed offering of floating long-term notes came to market today.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was up .16 at 80.41.

The NYSE's noon composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .18 at 44.16.

Geon Industries, the Amex volume leader, tumbled 7 points to 3.

Haldeman

Haldeman when he finished the news summary and he would stay in for about 30 to 35 minutes," Butterfield testified.

"Then perhaps Henry Kissinger would come in from 9 to 9:25," he added.

Haldeman and Kissinger were in and out of the President's office throughout a typical day, Butterfield said.

Nixon's work day normally would end at about 7:30 p.m., except for an average of about two nights a week when he would have his dinner in his office in the Executive Office Building.

Asked about Nixon's concern with details of the White House operation, Butterfield gave the following examples:

"... whether or not the curtains were closed or open, the arrangement of state gifts, whether they should be on that side of the room or this side of the room, displayed on a weekly basis or on a monthly or daily basis ...

"He was deeply involved in the entertainment business (for state dinners), whom we should get for what kind of group, small band, big band, black band, white band, jazz band whatever. He was very interested in meals and how they were served ...

"He was interested in who introduced him to guests and he wanted it done quite properly ...

"Guest lists were of great interest to him. He did review all the guests lists very carefully and no one would put someone on a guest list or take some one person off a guest list as a rule without going to the President. He was interested in knowing how many Republicans or Democrats were on the list, he would review it for that. Too many or too little — it always got his personal view—how many from the South, East, West, North regions of America, how many blacks, how many ethnics, how many labor union members might be invited; is this an appropriate event for labor members? Who are the reporters, the press people invited to this—he would review all of these lists personally and approve them personally."

Opinion And Comment

A WORD EDGEWISE . . . by John P. Roche

Only sport worth watching

I have a reputation on four continents for the calm, dispassionate way in which I analyze current events, but today I simply can not suppress my inner rage at one of the most scandalous events in recent years: the refusal of any television network to run the recent World Cup soccer final between the Netherlands and West Germany. I confess to some bias, having played soccer until my knees let me down, but beyond that I sincerely believe it is the only sport worth watching.

Let us canvas the options. First, basketball, which has literally become a freak game. Once upon a time there used to be something known as ball handling with players as small as 6-feet, 2-inches passing the ball back and forth in figure-8 patterns until somebody spotted a break in the defense and went in for a shot. Now what happens? A guy 7-feet tall heaves the ball the length of the court to another 7-footer who goes for the basket, and vice versa. I have not followed the rule changes, but I understand that now the team with the ball must shoot in virtually no time or lose the ball. No more intricate weaving; just heave and shoot.

THEN THERE is baseball, which I used to love — until the Dodgers deserted Brooklyn and the powers that be added about two dozen new teams. There are only a certain number of good baseball players in the country, and the addition of what formerly were minor league types has debased the currency. When I found I couldn't watch the World Cup final, I turned on a baseball game. After about the 10th pitcher appeared on the mound, I stopped counting. (And what in heaven's name is a "designated hitter"?) There was a big burly lad at the plate with instructions to bunt — it was hilarious. Leo Durocher would have fined him $100 for his performance: he tried to bunt twice and missed.

Now if the other team had caught the sign and pitched out, this would be understandable. But if a batter stands squarely in front of the plate with his bat, either he hits the ball or the ball hits him. (I omit from consideration that art form known as the running bunt, where a left-handed batter drops a bunt behind him as he takes off for first — this has probably been consigned to the same museum as the old dropkick in football.) And the pitching! Ted Williams would have averaged .650 (Conversely, I suspect that Lefty Grove would have won 45 games a year.) A real drag.

The ultimate proof of my un-American tendencies in my view of football. It is as stereotypically banal as a third-rate ballet. Thirty seconds of action, then a conference; 30 minutes of action, then a conference; and so on until mercifully the clock runs out. I have heard — though it may be slanderous — that the quarterback no longer calls his own plays, but is plugged in by radio to the coach.

And if ice hockey were played under any other circumstances, all hands would be in jail for mayhem, assault or even attempted murder. Lacrosse is in the same category: I once went out for lacrosse to keep in training for soccer, but quit after the first scrimmage. An opponent stuck his stick behind me, gave me the hip, and I flew about 10 feet to a hard landing. I waited for the whistle, and, learning this was legal, went back to handball.

Soccer in contrast is a wide-open game. Under international rules, there can only be two substitutes, so you go in with 13 men — 11 on the field — and pray that three of them don't get hurt. If so, you play with 10. The play is not

Letters to the Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

I have spent a week in Norway and it has been beautiful. The weather is great and it gets better the further north you go.

To let you know how I got here, I traveled by plane from Dayton to New York and seven hours by plane from New York to Copenhagen, Denmark. I traveled by train from there to Oslo, Norway by way of Denmark and Sweden. That was another seven-hour ride.

There are 32 students from the United States in Norway and we spent our first five days at the "Studentthylla" or student's huts. It was rented from the students of the University of Oslo by AFS Norway.

It is a skiing lodge in the winter and it is located near the geographical center of Oslo. The main part of the city of Oslo is about one mile away but the center of the city is in the middle of a forest.

Norwegian food is very similar to American food except it is a little better. I have gained about three pounds and a lot of walking muscles in the past week.

The cars in Norway are all very small. I have not seen any cars even near the size of a regular American car. Their cars are very expensive and for the price of a used car here would buy a new car in America.

But you never hear of them complaining about very much.

The radio is quite common in Norway. It is better known than the TV (mainly because on the TV they can only get one channel. How does that turn your apples?)

I feel as though I am the prince of America. Mainly because people feel they are amongst a person of great knowledge and of better abilities to obtain better things. But they are satisfied with what they have and with their customs.

On the radio there is a great deal of American pop songs. My AFS brother enjoys listening to American songs. He plays the guitar for a band Friday, Saturday and Sunday and he is having a beach party near my home here in Skien.

Well, I must get back to my new family. They are really fine Christian people and I think once I get accustomed to their ways and learn Norwegian a little more, I will get along fine.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Many friends of the school and community and countless numbers of children will, I hope, enjoy seeing some of the art work done for Jeffersonville School first grade now being shown at the Fayette County Fair.

Items on display are the Holstein cow, "Bossy"; "Sally Stegosaurus," the dinosaur from Fayette County's dim past; and a collection of items made to demonstrate to children how they could create satisfying things on their own with a minimum of material and expense.

We teachers' sponsoring these exhibits do wish to thank the Fair Board members and their wives for broken up by conferences, the guy 7-feet tall has no advantage (except perhaps as a goalie) over the player 5-feet, 7, and the rules are (with the exception of the off-side regulation) simple. What you have is an hour and a half of constant movement with only a halftime break, and it is incredible to see how the real professionals handle that ball with their feet. The intricate ball passing that used to characterize basketball is there: watching those West Germans (as we did on TV in Munich) is like witnessing masterful choreography. And by and large it is a clean game (though the Latin Americans tend to go for the man and not the ball) — all in all, a joy to behold.

Come on America, let's hear it for soccer!

their enthusiastic and gracious reception of our entries. There was some question as to where we might best fit in but the ladies receiving entries decided to put us in the Fine Arts department since we would confine our entries to items of sculpture (paper mache). The fees were paid, tags received and all was well.

What had begun as a delighted experience turned hectic upon arrival at the appointed time to set up our displays. We were told we could wait until 4 p.m. and they would see then if there would be space for us. Since ours were the first two entries made to the Fair on Friday, July 12 when the offices opened we felt it unfair to be pushed aside for later entries including numerous exhibitors from out of Fayette County. It seems to me that perhaps people coming to the Fayette County Fair might enjoy what those in Fayette County are doing.

There was some discussion and finally some space was located for us to begin, but we might be asked to move. From 1:15 until 2:45 p.m. we were held in limbo while the lady in charge debated with her advisor. She would say do this and then he would say don't or perhaps the other way at times.

Finally, we went ahead with our displays with regular interruptions since we were still felt to be out of place and using space which might be needed for other exhibitors with more interesting and appropriate displays. The eight feet of wall space allowed us was begrudged but another exhibitor could have a similar amount since she is a "professional."

My reply to this is, "I'm a professional, too!" I have not sold nor do I propose to sell the things we create unless one can consider the countless sales made in the classroom to children led and inspired and impressed forever by meaningful experiences in art. To me these sales are beyond pricing and perhaps even many "professionals" can look back to childhood experiences where there was a teacher ("un-professional") who gave a priceless gift of joy or inspiration never to be forgotten. Being a teacher is, to me, the most rewarding profession on earth.

We at Jeffersonville School are proud of our youth. There are other teachers and groups there doing "un-professional" but priceless work with the children.

Many friends of the school donated hours as volunteer helpers to see the children of Jeffersonville receive the reward of enriching experiences in many areas. Money can never repay them but I know they feel well paid.

These are the reasons we went to the fair and dug our toes in and insisted our entries be kept on display. Not for prize money, not for ribbons but for our friends to see some results of caring about our children and our schools.

I hope the entire county will be proud and enjoy just a sample of what is being done in their schools for their children.

Thanks to some wonderful ladies who didn't know where to put us but had the courage and interest in wanting Fayette County school children to see some of their art work and projects at the fair. I hope the Fayette County Fair will be better for it!

Push sale of tickets

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An official of the Ohio Licensed Beverage Association on Tuesday asked the Ohio Liquor Control Commission to permit lottery ticket sales in taverns, restaurants and grocery stores before Sept. 25.

Harold Rickert, executive secretary of the association, told the commission at a hearing that reports from the state lottery headquarters show that the lottery commission is below its quota of licensing 10,000 agents before the lottery ticket sales begin Aug. 12.

In testimony prepared for the hearing, Rickert claimed that lottery tickets would be hard to find the first six weeks and sales would not produce anticipated revenue.

He added that a slow start to the lottery would postpone the first millionaire drawing, based on sales.

The legislature has passed legislation giving liquor permit holders sales permission, but the bill does not contain an emergency clause and does not become effective until Sept. 25.

Women running for office shun help from husbands

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Congresswoman Ella Grasso, who could become the first woman in American history to be elected governor without the help of her husband's coattails, says her sex won't make a difference at the polls.

And she says neither she nor Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer will lose votes because there are two women on the ticket, a first for either major party in Connecticut.

"I think we are two persons who are also women," Mrs. Grasso, 55, said after her unanimous nomination Saturday by the Democratic state convention.

"It's a natural fact and I feel that what we bring by virtue of our lifetimes of public service and dedication are the factors on which we will be judged."

If Mrs. Grasso is elected in November, she will be the first woman in the country to become governor without succeeding her husband in office.

There have been three women governors but each succeeded their husbands. They were: Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming in 1925, Miriam Ferguson of Texas in 1925, and Lurleen Wallace of Alabama in 1967.

The selection of two women on the six-person state ticket "makes political history in the country," Mrs. Grasso said. "But in Connecticut we've earned our chance and our candidacies have been accepted in that light."

At one time in her campaign she felt her sex might influence people to vote a certain way.

"I thought this might have been an issue because I had been told it would be. But interestingly this has not emerged," she said.

Starting in 1953, Mrs. Grasso served four years in the state House of Representatives. She was elected secretary of the state in 1958 and held the post for 12 years.

In 1970 she was elected to her 6th District congressional seat, succeeding Thomas J. Meskill, who was making a successful run for governor.

Mrs. Grasso was followed as secretary of the state by Mrs. Schaffer, now seeking a second four-year term.

She and her husband Thomas, a retired school principal, have two children, Susanne and James, both teachers who live with their parents in Windsor Locks.

She said the only time a person told her he would not vote for her because she is a woman was when she was campaigning at a factory gate during her 1970 congressional campaign.

"Two years later I met him at the same factory gate and his greeting was much more cordial," she added.

The Republican nominating convention will meet Saturday in Hartford to choose gubernatorial and other state candidates.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Advice for the daughter-in-law

DEAR ABBY: If a man works hard all day, is he supposed to help his wife with the housework? And even pack his own lunch pail?

The wife works, too, but it's light office work. My new daughter-in-law won't even clean her oven. She says it's a man's job. They've been married only ten months and already their apartment looks like something the cat dragged in. You can't even find a clean spot to sit on.

I've been married for 32 years and my husband never helped me with the housework.

I think a man should take care of the yard, carry out the garbage and maybe paint a little, but the housework, cooking and the kids are the wife's department.

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Sorry, but I send advice only to those who ask for it. (It's a good policy. I recommend it.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 54, and I am a few years older. He used to be such a refined and gentle man, but lately, he'll fly into a rage for no apparent reason, storming around the house and shouting so the whole neighborhood can hear him. He has even broken furniture and thrown it out the back door in a fit of anger!

He gets into fights with waitresses and salespeople and shouts obscenities at pedestrians and other automobile drivers. Almost every time we walk on the street he gets into a fight with a stranger. His language is foul and, Abby, this man never even used to swear! If I try not talking to him, he gets mad at me for giving him the "silent treatment."

He's been seeing a skindocotor about a rash which seems to be getting progressively worse. What could be wrong with him? Please tell me what to do. I don't know how much more I can take.

END OF ROPE

DEAR END: Your husband's trouble is more than skin-deep. Tell his doctor what you have told me. When a man becomes suddenly hostile, profane and violent, a psychiatrist should be consulted.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a widow for 12 years, I have continued to call myself Mrs. William Smith.

A friend of mine recently told me that this is incorrect; that since there is no longer a William Smith, neither is there a Mrs. William Smith, and I should call myself Mrs. Isabell Smith. Will you kindly set me straight?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Your friend needs to be set straight. When you took William's name, you took it for as long as YOU lived (unless you took another husband); not for as long as WILLIAM lived. Socially, you are still Mrs. William Smith. When it comes to signing legal documents, consult your lawyer.

CONFIDENTIAL TO V.S.: Breeding? I like what Jonathan Swift has to say about it: "Good manners is the act of making those people easy with whom we converse. Whoever makes the fewest people uneasy, is the best bred in the company."

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, July 24, the 205th day of 1974. There are 160 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1704, the British captured Gibraltar during the War of the Spanish Succession.

On this date—

In 1783, the Latin American patriot, Simon Bolivar, was born in Caracas, Venezuela.

In 1847, the Mormon leader, Brigham Young, arrived at Great Salt Lake Valley in Utah. The event is celebrated in the state as Pioneer Day.

In 1870, the first railroad car from the Pacific Coast reached New York City.

In 1929, President Herbert Hoover proclaimed the Kellogg-Briand Pact, which renounced war as an instrument of national policy.

In 1942, in World War II, British bombers devastated the German cities of Frankfurt and Mannheim.

In 1946, the United States made the first underwater test of an atomic bomb, off Bikini atoll in the Pacific.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson rejected a French proposal for an international conference to proclaim the neutrality of Indochina, saying, "We do not believe in a conference called to ratify terror."

One year ago: President Nixon welcomed the Shah of Iran to the White House and said the monarch was a crucial friend of the U.S. in the Middle East.

Twins married in double wedding ceremony

Miss Cinda Kay James became the bride of Richard DeAngelis and Miss Linda Sue James the bride of Eric Kipker in a double wedding ceremony July 6. The Rev. Mark Dove performed the double-ring ceremony at 1:30 p.m. in Grace Methodist Church before an altar enhanced with vases of blue and green Killian daisies. The pews were marked with blue and green satin bows.

The brides are the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. James, 1219 Washington Ave. Mr. DeAngelis is the son of Mr. Samuel DeAngelis of Lorain, and Mrs. John Brady of Elyria. Mr. Kipker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kipker of Ada.

Mrs. Gene Hughes, organist, presented traditional wedding music and themes from Love Story and Romeo and Juliet. Mr. Rick Rebman played guitar and sang the Wedding Song.

Given in marriage by their parents, Cinda Kay wore a capped sleeve organza gown over white taffeta, with wedding ring collar. The bodice was overlaid with applique of daisies. Her chapel train was edged with daisies and appliqued with floral design and daisies. The waist-length veil was held by a cap of lace and applique studded with tiny pearls.

Linda Sue wore a gown of white taffeta overlaid with white organza, with sweetheart neckline and short sleeves edged with lace. The bodice was appliqued with lace and organza flowers. Her chapel train was edged with lace and appliqued with organza flowers. She wore a waist-length veil caught in an applique band of lace and tiny pearls.

Each of the brides carried a colonial bouquet of blue stephanotis, white roses, with Marguerite daisies, white miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Maid of honor for both brides was Miss Julie Blake of Washington C.H., a niece. She wore a full length gown of sheer polyester print with a floral and flocked design, lined with blue. The capped sleeves and hem were edged with an eyelet embroidery edging, and she wore flowers in her hair.

The bridesmaids were Miss Marjorie Lentz of Cincinnati, Miss Mary Bennett of Mount Vernon, and Mrs. Mark Glaisher of Waynesburg, Pa. They wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor except lined in green. Each carried a white wicker basket filled with blue and green Marguerite daisies, yellow miniature carnations, baby's breath and matching satin showers. They also wore matching headpieces.

Serving as best man for Mr. DeAngelis was Michael Roseberry of Marion. William Butterfield of Ada served as best man for Mr. Kipker. David Kovacs of Lorain served as an usher and Bary Meyer of Columbus.

TWINS MARRY — Cinda and Linda James, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fred James, were married in a double wedding ceremony July 6 in Grace United Methodist Church, when Cinda became the bride of Richard DeAngelis (left), and Linda the bride of Eric Kipker (right).

Mrs. James chose for her daughters' wedding a formal length gown of light blue, with lace bodice and long sleeves, high waistline and skirt of blue organza over taffeta. Mrs. Brady, the groom's mother, wore a pink afternoon long dress with sheer bodice and long sleeves, with pink and white skirt, with which she combined white accessories. Mrs. Kipker chose a long pink dress with long sleeves and white accessories, and Mrs. DeAngelis, the stepmother, wore a red and white formal-length dress with short sleeves and white accessories. Each wore a corsage of Marguerite daisies.

The brides' grandmother, 96-years-old, Mrs. John E. James of Jackson, and Mr. DeAngelis' two grandmothers, Mrs. Sam DeAngelis and Mrs. John Rousis, both of Lorain, were present. They, too, had corsages of daisies.

A reception for the couple followed at the Terrace Lounge. Hostesses were Mrs. Robert Blake and Mrs. Richard Tescher, sisters of the brides. Miss Karen Tescher, a niece of Nobelsville, Ind., and Mrs. Ron Kipker of Ada, presided at the guest books.

The large double wedding cake on the brides' table was encircled with blue and green Marguerite daisies, leather leaf and fern.

The new Mr. and Mrs. DeAngelis took a trip to Nassau for their honeymoon. They are now residing in the Pinecrest Apartments in Amherst. The bride received a bachelor of arts from Ohio Northern University and is a medical technologist supervisor of hematology at Lorain Community Hospital. Her husband attended Ohio Northern University and is manager of the Radio Shack in Rocky River near Cleveland.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Kipker are residing at Gate House Square in Lima following a wedding trip to Florida. The bride received a bachelor of science degree in Pharmacy at Ohio Northern University, and is employed at St. Rita's Hospital Pharmacy Dept. in Lima. Her husband received a bachelor of science degree in education from Ohio Northern University, and is a teacher at Lima Shawnee High School.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the LaFayette Inn with the parents of the two bridegrooms as hosts.

Jeannie C. Riley sets album of hymns

AGAWAM, Mass. (AP) — Country-Western singer Jeannie C. Riley says she has realized God doesn't want her to sing any more songs like "Harper Valley P.T.A.," her hit of six years ago. "It was a monster," she said about the ballad which satirized small-town hypocrisy.

Miss Riley, 28, who was here for a show at an amusement park, says her next album will be a collection of inspirational songs.

*Century-old wedding gown is displayed here*

"They sure don't make em like that today!" is an understatement indeed, for it's quite doubtful one of today's wedding dresses would be around in the year 2074, but there is one around which was worn on Jan. 1, 1874 and it belongs to Mrs. Leona McGinnis, of 322 S. North St.

It was worn by her grandmother, Olivia (Smith) Hays on New Year's Day in 1874, when she married Harlan Hays, here. After the wedding, the couple went to live on Penny Pike and the dress was stored away until two generations later, it fell into Mrs. McGinnis' hands and she thought it would be nice to see it on someone.

There was a problem with this, (for Olivia Hays was a very small woman) until Tammy Smith (no relation to Mrs. McGinnis' grandmother, Olivia (Smith) Hays), became an employee of Community Outreach, a branch of the Community Action Commission, which sponsors the hot lunch program for the elderly Monday through Friday at noon at the First Presbyterian Church.

Tammy modeled the wedding gown for the group of which Mrs. McGinnis is a member, at the church last week and Mrs. McGinnis also displayed the wedding shirt her grandfather wore during the wedding ceremony and the wedding nightgown worn by his bride on their first night together 100 years ago.

Mrs. McGinnis explained, "all the stitching on the wedding dress, shirt and nightgown was done by hand and the stitches, so well done and so small, the dress maker must have gone blind or cross-eyed after the gown's construction!"

It remains a mystery what the material is. It feels stiff like burlap, but was probably a coarse weave of cotton fabric, which has worn exceptionally well over the many years.

Tammy, who will enter ninth grade at Miami Trace High School in the fall, is five feet, one inch in height and weighs 102 pounds; just like Olivia Smith on Jan. 1, 1874.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Gary Casey and children of Atlanta, Georgia arrived Monday afternoon to spend a few days with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Roland F. Holthouse of 638 Albin Ave.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

THURSDAY, JULY 25, 1974

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

A fruitful day indicated, but your returns may not be quite as great as you expected. Remain composed and ready to shift to a lower gear in expectations — for the present, at least!

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

The cool-headed approach in all matters will bring better results than the emotional one. Your fine skills and talents are due for recognition soon.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

This day may be described as a duel between promise and performance. The effort expended and the direction taken will be the deciding factors. Think before acting!

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

A broad new concept of your job is in the making, which you should strive to understand. Contact with persons who have bright, workable ideas could change your strategies.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You may run into some opposition now, but you need not let it disturb your equilibrium or your sense of humor. You usually enjoy outwitting opposing forces.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Fine influences! Aim for early accomplishment, planned in your usual orderly fashion, but do not reject the novel or unfamiliar without due consideration.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Shun breakneck speed, but neither delay nor be tardy in action. Both extremes, and others, must be curbed. Group interests, partnerships favored.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Put past doubts, disappointments behind you; they only put limits on future success. Stress your versatility; you could now add the "twist" that boosts projects to success.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 22)

This may not be a spectacular day, but it offers some gains and much pleasure. Start with the will to make it better than ever and you will be happy.

those you know to be timely and well thought-out.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

A good spot for your intuitive forces, your ingenuity, alertness and inventiveness. Do use them for sound purposes.

YOU BORN TODAY: Versatility, gregariousness and boundless energy are your outstanding traits. Although you are very progressive in your thinking and your methods, you have a great fondness for old traditions and for the antique in art and furnishings — may even succeed as a dealer in such objects. With a great flair for the dramatic, you could also excel on the stage or, in the legal profession, as a trial lawyer. Other fields suited to your abilities: politics, statesmanship, manager of large enterprises or music. Traits to curb: Overaggressiveness and a tendency to dominate others. Birthdate of: David Belasco, playwright, theatrical producer; Henry Knox, 1st Sec'y of War., U.S.A.

Bugging helps fight illnesses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Professor John D. Briggs likes to be bugged. He hopes it will help him cure human illnesses.

Briggs, professor of entomology at Ohio State University and director of the World Health Organization International Reference Center, receives hundreds of insects each week from all over the world.

He studies the insects in hopes of finding cures for such illnesses as malaria and sleeping sickness, carried by certain kinds of mosquitoes and black flies.

Recently, Briggs said he and his colleagues isolated a bacteria that kills Anopheles mosquitoes, which transmit malaria.

He said he also helped develop a bacteria that kills a West African cousin of the black fly that spreads an eye disease called onchocerciasis, or "river blindness."

But his research is mostly interested in "getting rid of the transmission of disease" not wiping out the insect, Briggs emphasized.

In fact, Briggs said, once an insect-killing bacteria is isolated, scientists study it carefully to note its effects on other animals.

Each week insects from Jakarta, Indonesia; Nigeria and from other parts of the world are sent to Briggs' laboratory at the university.

He and other workers classify and study them to find out which ones eat what and the "complexity of habitat," Briggs said.

Briggs said the Anopheles bacteria probably is two or three years from widespread use.

Ohio's jobless rate takes jump

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's unemployment rate in April was higher than the nation's monthly rate for the first time in three years, according to the Business and Economic Research Center at Ohio State University.

While the national unemployment rate dropped to 4.8 per cent in April, the center reported, unemployment in the state topped off at 4.9 per cent.

Ohio also was below the national increases in personal income and total construction contracts for April, the center noted.

Personal income rose one per cent in the nation, but less than half that in Ohio.

Ohio matched national figures in other areas in April, notably a one per cent increase in retail sales and a five per cent increase in bank loans to business and agriculture.

With the passage of shortage-induced slowdowns and the Arab oil embargo, a period of economic growth has been forecast by James C. Yocum, professor of administrative science at Ohio State.

Yocum said the decline in industrial output has apparently been reversed and unemployment, which was arrested in April, was narrowed in May.

Areas of uncertainty for the future are the inflation rate, housing construction volume, and the state of consumer confidence, Yocum said.

Housing apparently will not provide the strong upturn that had been expected, Yocum said, because of high interest rates and the transfer of investment funds to institutions where they can earn higher interest rates.

The biggest hope, Yocum said, is that inflation will be reduced and consumers will take a more positive and confident attitude toward spending.

A recent U.S. Commerce Department study said that by 1990, Ohioans will be 1.4 per cent above the national average in per capita personal income.

The department's projection, based on current patterns and trends, shows that Ohioans can expect an average per capita personal income of $6,255, while nationally the figure is $6,166.

This will keep Ohio 14th in the nation and third among the five states in the Great Lakes region. Ohio will lead Indiana and Wisconsin, but trail Illinois and Michigan.

Cyprus close call for KSU students

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A Kent State University student who was caught on war torn Cyprus said in a telephone interview from London that at one time "I didn't think we were going to make it."

Chris Hollendonner, 20, of Cleveland Heights, told the Plain Dealer Tuesday that the 16 members of the archeological expedition were resting at a London hotel following their ordeal.

Hollendonner said none of the team members panicked under the constant fear of being caught in the crossfire after the Turkish invasion last week, "but we all had a lot of doubts. Right now, we are exhausted."

The Kent group, headed by Dr. James P. Carpenter, assistant professor of classics and classical archeology, arrived on Cyprus July 1 and was camped about 50 miles north of Nicosia when the government was overthrown July 15.

Hollendonner said he and the other students were disappointed when their work was interrupted. With the nearby village of Patmos tou Kambou under a 2 p.m. curfew, work was suspended for four days, he said.

A few students returned briefly to the dig on Friday, said Hollendonner, but the Turkish invasion on Saturday ended their search for clues to the history of early Mediterranean culture.

While villagers fled to the mountains, the students stayed in the deserted village under the advice of United Nations forces, Hollendonner said.

"We had become pretty close to the villagers, so we gave them some food and money so they could survive in the mountains," he said. "It didn't leave us with much."

Gas rates to increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rural customers in 50 Ohio counties will be paying more for natural gas as the result of a ruling announced Tuesday by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

The PUCO approved a request from Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., to hike rates for rural customers to at least the same level as those for municipal customers in the same counties.

In a series of filings between 1969 and 1972, Columbia alleged that rates charged to municipal and county customers are discriminatory, because rates charged to customers in unincorporated areas are substantially lower.

The cost of providing service to rural areas is "at least equal to and in most cases greater than the cost of serving municipal customers," Columbia said.

The company has been instructed by the PUCO to file new rates for each county "reflecting the rates in effect in the nearest municipality as of Aug. 1, 1973."

Battelle probe OKd by court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Franklin County probate judge may continue his investigation of the Battelle Memorial Institute, the 10th District Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday.

In a unanimous decision, the court held that Judge Richard Metcalf is legally empowered to investigate Battelle since it is a charitable trust created by the will of its founder, Gordon Battelle.

Several agencies including the state attorney general and the Franklin County prosecutor's office, have been investigating the institute to determine if institute officials are abiding by the terms of the founder's will.

Cyprus war caught U.S. family

by DAVID LANCASHIRE
Associated Press Writer
ABOARD HMS OLNA OFF CYPRUS (AP) — The Turkish landing on the north coast of Cyprus caught the Lancashire family camping in a stone barn in the mountains 11 miles west of Kyrenia.

The crash of bombs and the whine of jets woke us at dawn Saturday. We spent the day wondering if the next bombs would blast the barn down.

Between air raids we peered out at smoke pouring from the hills a few miles away.

We showered from a hose to ward off the heat, and to pass the time my wife perched our two sons—Michael, 11, and Adrian, 10—on a garbage can and gave them haircuts.

"There goes our friendly neighborhood battleship again," she told the children as a warship a couple of miles away fired more shells into the hills.

That night hundreds of fires blazed in the mountains, and at dawn Sunday we made a run for safety in our rented car.

We reached an abandoned hotel less than a mile from the new Zephyros Hotel. We spent part of the day huddled on the floor beneath beds as bombing raids shook the building. A warship shelled the hotel restaurant, and we raced to hide on a nearby beach.

The Turks, apparently spotting us and mistaking us for Greek fighters, fired two salvos. They missed, but sand and rock splinters landed on our heads as we camouflaged ourselves with towels in case planes came in to strafe us.

Sunday night we walked across a field to the Zephyros, and found it guttured and blazing like a beacon. About 90 tourists—British, German, French and Canadian—were camped in cave-like crannies in the rocks below the hotel.

They told us Turkish jets spotted a .70-caliber Greek cannon mounted outside the hotel Sunday, swooped in repeatedly and blasted the building to wreckage. Miraculously, no one was hurt.

The Greek Cypriot troops had abandoned the provocative cannon before the air raid. The tourists tied white flags around its barrel and pushed it over a cliff. Then they hoisted white flags made from bedsheets, ducked each time the jets shrieked overhead, comforted the children and waited in the searing sun for the British navy or United Nations forces to come for them.

All Monday we crouched in the rocks, hiding from the air raids and naval guns bombarding the Kyrenia coast. As shells whined overhead and exploded around Greek Cypriot positions in the mountains, we watched two Turkish troopships put reinforcements ashore five hours before the cease-fire was to begin.

Seven landing barges brought the Turks ashore at a beach six miles west

Scott Jenks' barrow will be the first one sold at Wednesday evening's Junior Fair market hog sale in the show arena. It was named grand champion of the swine show in judging held Tuesday at the Fayette County Fair.

Jenks is no stranger to the grand champion ranks as his steer was grand champion last year in the steer show. Judge Dick Kemp selected Brad Walters' barrow as reserve grand champion. Jenks' barrow is a Hamp-Duroc and Walters' is a crossbred.

Showmanship winners were also named. In senior showmanship, Rusty Coe took top honors followed by Beth Jenks and Steve Coe.

Garden tractor pull draws 54

With 54 entries in four classes, the garden tractor pull Monday at the Fayette County Fair was estimated by officials to be one of the largest in southwestern Ohio this year.

Sponsored by the Miami Trace High School Future Farmers of America chapter, the pull attracted entries from several counties surrounding the area.

Martin Quigley, of Martinsville, was top trophy winner with three first place awards. Phil Mathews, of Xenia, took the other top spot Alfred Kendall judged the competition.

Jury being seated to hear grand theft case evidence

Selection of petit jurors for the trial of a Sabina man charged with grand larceny began Wednesday morning in Fayette County Common Pleas Court. Judge Evelyn W. Coffman presided.

Glenn Shelton Jr., 51, Sabina, faces a felony charge of grand larceny for allegedly attempting to steal a large piece of carpeting from the Redman Industries' mobile home plant in the industrial park.

Arrested along with his brother, James, Nov. 1, 1973, he is charged with a felony because the carpet, which reportedly measures some 12 by 38 feet, has an estimated value of more than $60, the boundary for a grand larceny at the time of the alleged theft last year.

Petty larceny now ranges to $150 worth of goods, according to the new criminal code adopted Jan. 1, 1974.

If the jury finds that Shelton is guilty of theft in the case, it will then have to determine the value of the piece of property, indicating grand or petty larceny. He is being represented at the trial by Roger W. Heltzel of Crane and Heltzel, attorneys at law, of Columbus.

A SPECIAL prosecutor, John O. Crouse, of Hillsboro, has been retained by the county to try the state's case. Fayette County prosecutor James A. Kiger stepped aside from the case because he had been consulted by Shelton to defend him shortly after his arrest. At that time, Kiger had resigned as city solicitor and had not yet been appointed as prosecutor, thus he was in a position to consider defending Shelton.

When Kiger was named prosecutor, he removed himself from the case since he had had privileged conversations with the defendant. Crouse represented the state when an indictment was returned earlier this year.

James Shelton, indicted on the same charge, is reportedly residing in California.

Ohio assemblymen OK appropriations

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $124 million supplemental appropriations bill got final approval during a one-day legislative session Tuesday that also saw passage of a landlord-tenant measure.

Most of the attention during the day was focused on the appropriations bill. It gives state employees a pay raise, hike aid to schools and boosts the benefits of retired state employees.

Quick action on the measure was promised after widespread strike by state employees two weeks ago. House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, questioned timing of the bill.

"What will we do next year?" he asked. "What if the surplus isn't there?"

Gov. John J. Gilligan, after repeated denials of a surplus, later found an excess of $80.5 million, which was used to finance most of the package. The remainder will come from state lottery proceeds expected to be around $43.5 million.

The Senate gave 26-4 approval to the spending compromise worked out by a joint committee of three Republicans and three Democrats. The House approved it 87-4.

Conferees, voicing some dislike over the package, claimed it was the best that could be worked out. Four House Republicans and four Senate Republicans voted against it.

House Finance Committee Chairman Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, who carried the compromise bill on the House floor, emphasized its $45 million for education but gave school districts a warning.

Noting that the legislature had eroded the school foundation formula over the years, he added:

"It's time we revise the formula, but at the same time notify some of the school districts of this state if they're going to drive a Cadillac, they're going to have to pay the bill."

As Kurfess did in the House, Sen. Paul R. Matia, R-25 Westlake, said he disliked any pay increase "under threat of illegal strikes." Rep. Barry Quilter, D-47 Toledo, said in the House pay increases for state workers had been discussed prior to the strike.

The legislature approved a bill defining landlord-tenant relations 18-11 in the Senate and 70-15 in the House, but rejected a probate court reform measure.

The House approved the probate court bill 62-24 but the Senate rejected it, 16-5.

Simple guidelines on taxation urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Guidelines for Ohio's new farm land taxation law must be "as brief and simple as possible," the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals was told Tuesday.

This was one of several recommendations made by the Ohio Farmers Union in an informal, two-hour session with the tax appeals board.

The law, which takes effect Friday, provides for taxing farm land on the basis of its use, rather than its potential market value.

Ohio voters recently approved a constitutional amendment permitting such taxation to ease tax burdens on farmers whose lands border suburban areas where land values have skyrocketed.

"The rules should be as brief and simple as possible," said Joseph Fichter, an OFU lobbyist.

"They should not be needlessly complicated. The purpose of the constitutional amendment is to enable owners of agricultural land devoted

Right wrong done to Wright

TRENTON (AP) — The New Jersey Supreme Court has righted the wrong done to Harry Wright's "Write-in-Wright" election campaign by voters who wrote in Wright wrong.

The highest court unanimously upheld on Tuesday an Appellate Division of Superior Court ruling that restored 294 of Wright's votes in a Sparta Township council election. The ballots had been declared invalid because voters wrote only "Wright" without a first name.

A trial court judge had ruled that there was no way to be certain that those voters meant Harry Wright, rather than one of the eight other Wrights in the small Sussex County community, even though all the others said they didn't want the job.

The game of lacrosse has been Canada's national sport since 1867.

Jury dismissed in Muny Court

Jurors were summoned to Municipal Court Wednesday morning to hear a case, charging driving under the influence of alcohol, but were then dismissed when counsel for the defense asked that the case be heard by acting Judge Omar Schwart, without a jury.

Robert DeWeese, 529 Third St., is charged with driving while intoxicated by city police. He is represented by attorney John C. Bryan.

Solicitor Gary Smith presented the case for the city.

2 safes cracked at Eagles lodge

Two safes were burglarized at the Washington C.H. Eagles Lodge, 320 Sycamore St., early Wednesday, Washington C.H. police officers reported.

Sometime after the lodge's closing at 1:30 a.m. and the arrival of the custodian at 3:25 a.m., burglars entered the building by knocking out a window in the rear and then went into the office and cracked the two safes containing an undetermined amount of money.

A cigarette machine was also rifled, but the money extracted was a small amount, as it had been emptied recently.

The Bureau of Criminal Investigation in London has been called in to assist city police with the case.

A second breaking and entering reported by police occurred sometime between 3 p.m. Tuesday and 12:30 a.m. Wednesday, at the Howard Temple residence, 708 Second St.

Twenty-seven dollars worth of 50 cents pieces were taken from a metal box, along with a cassette tape player. Police are investigating this burglary also.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department also reported a breaking and entering incident.

The Hartley Oil Co. was entered through an unlocked window in the rear of the building, located at 301 W. Elm St., by burglars, sometime between 6:30 p.m. Tuesday and 7 a.m. Wednesday.

The drawers and files were ransacked and two electronic pocket calculators stolen. Investigation is continuing.

A three-speed bicycle belonging to Joseph Lyons, 1330 Pearl St., was stolen from the Fayette County Fairgrounds sometime between 6 p.m. and 11:14 p.m. Saturday, Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported.

Robert A. Dunlap, 58, Amherst, was bitten by a dog on the calf of the left leg at 6:10 p.m. Tuesday, police reported. He was treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital, police reported.

Marijuana defendant receives heavy fine in court hearing

A 20-year-old Washington C.H. man pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and driving while under the influence of an intoxicant in Municipal Court Tuesday and was sentenced by acting Judge Omar Schwart. The defendant was also the recipient of alcoholic beverage which led to a jail term for another Washington C.H. man.

Duane May, 1016 E. Temple St., was fined a total of $500 on the two charges and was sentenced to three days in jail on the DWI charge. Judge Schwart also reimposed a 30-day jail term which had been suspended following a conviction for theft in March. May's operator's license was suspended for 30 days.

Police officers cited May for DWI and failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead after they were summoned to the scene of an accident on W. Circle Avenue, near Gardner Park.

While investigating the circumstances, one of the group of spectators which had gathered around the scene reported to one of the officers that he had seen May stuff a small package down inside his belt. Upon investigation, the officers found the package contained marijuana.

The charge of failing to maintain an assured clear distance was dismissed in court after the defendant pleaded not guilty.

Michael E. Bennett, 21, of 505 E. Elm St., was fined $100 and had 55 days of a previously suspended jail term reimposed after he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of furnishing May, a person under 21, with six per cent beer. The reimposed jail sentence stemmed from a theft conviction in March.

A GREENFIELD woman pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Tuesday to charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest which stemmed from a family quarrel on the municipal parking lot Friday night.

Pamela Lightle, 24, of Greenfield, was fined a total of $125 on the two charges by acting Judge Omar Schwart.

Sgt. Robert Massie, of the Washington C.H. Police Department, testified that the defendant knocked off his glasses and kicked him as he attempted to place her under arrest for disorderly conduct. He stated that he was not bitten as had earlier been reported.

The defendant, an employee of the Emerald Inn, was not working at the time of the incident which flared as a result of an argument between herself and her husband on the city parking lot. The disturbance was unrelated to her employment and had no other connection with the Emerald Inn.

TWO RAILROAD conductors received suspended fines for unnecessarily blocking a public road with a train for longer than five minutes.

Henry E. Wilson, Newark, was fined $100 on each of two counts of the violation, but both fines were suspended providing they do not violate the same statute during the next six months.

Richard W. Powell, Heath, received the same $100 fine and suspension. Both had been charged by Sheriff's deputies.

Harry T. Armstrong, 728 Eastern Ave., forfeited $100 bond on a charge of disorderly conduct filed by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

Armco notes top earnings

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Armco Steel Corp., reporting record earnings for the second quarter, announced a planned 50-per cent expansion of its Kansas City, Mo. plant to be completed by 1977.

A spokesman said the expansion will include two new electrical furnaces with 170-ton capacity each.

The firm also announced a renovation of its Marion, Ohio, plant is underway. An additional 30-ton electric furnace and another strand on a continuous casting unit will increase capacity by 75 per cent by 1976, the company said.

Armco reported earnings of $48,168 million on sales of $804,648 million in the second quarter or $1.58 per share. Earnings for the same period last year were $54,647 million on sales of $1,124,340,000 for 4.9 cents a share.

Workers strike

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State Government Employees Union today struck the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation in the demand for union recognition.

'TV potent force,' Rotary speaker says

"Television is a potent force," a Columbus television station employee told members of the Washington C.H. Rotary Club during the regular weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday in the Country Club.

David Finley, a 1969 Washington Senior High School graduate now employed at WBNS-TV in Columbus, said national statistics disclose that the average family spends at least six hours per day in front of the television set.

Finley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Finley, 823 Willard St., told the Rotarians that 95 per cent of the homes in the U.S. have at least one television set. He said it has been estimated that about 500 million persons were watching television when astronaut Neil Armstrong walked on the moon's surface nearly five years ago.

"Even though television is a potent force, it is basically still a new force," Finley said as he pointed out, for instance, that WBNS has been on the air since 1949.

Five traffic mishaps checked

An Auburn, Wash., man was charged by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department with two traffic offenses Wednesday. City police reported two hit-skip accidents and a two-car accident on McKinley Avenue.

Robert N. Brill, 40, Auburn, Wash., was charged by sheriff's deputies with driving left of center and driving while intoxicated at 3:15 a.m. Wednesday, when he became involved in an accident on U.S. 62, just near the Jamison Road intersection.

Brill had driven his car off the road and into a utility pole, owned by Dayton Power and Light Co., 101 East St., and then into a field before stopping. Deputies reported damage as slight and no injury.

Another accident which occurred

Tuesday, involved the striking of a pole.

A truck driven by Harry O. Pollock, 30, of 904 S. Hinde St., collided with a telephone pole owned by Ohio Bell, 334 E. Court St., at 6:15 p.m.

Pollock had been backing his truck between Hidy Glass, CCC-Highway-W, and the OK Tire Shop, when he bumped into the pole. His truck was moderately damaged according to sheriff's deputies.

A car driven by Allen L. Mossbarger, 29, Ohio 41-N, was struck by an unidentified driver at 5:10 p.m. Tuesday, on Oakland Avenue, near the North Street intersection. Police reported moderate damage and are seeking the hit-skip driver.

A car owned by Voss Chevrolet Inc., Dayton, was also damaged by a hit-skip driver. It had been parked at Hidy Foods, Columbus Avenue, where the mishap occurred at 9:55 p.m. Saturday, police reported.

An accident between cars driven by Clifford W. Smith, 63, of 112 McKinley Ave., and Robert D. Wilson, 22, of 1109 Forest St., occurred at 9:22 a.m. Tuesday, police reported. Smith had been backing his car out of his driveway when the collision happened.

New leaders

Greek army officers who led the coup, Nicos Sampson, resigned. Glafcos Clerides, speaker of the House of Representatives and a close associate of Makarios, was named to succeed him.

In a radio address, Clerides urged all Cypriots to "forget the past and present" and to "work hard for the good of the Cypriot people regardless of race, communal feeling or politics." In the past, he acted as president when Makarios traveled abroad. The Athens junta was reported to consider him an acceptable replacement for the archbishop. But he repeatedly made clear that he would never take over unless elected by the people.

Evacuation of foreigners continued from the British bases in Dhekelia and Akrotiri, in southern Cyprus. The bases were reported jammed with refugees, and British forces were taking them to waiting ships.

The British government had hoped to open negotiations in Geneva today between the Greeks and Turks to arrange for a peace agreement, including restoration of constitutional rule to Cyprus. But a U.N. spokesman in New York said he understood that the change in the Greek government would delay the meeting.

The government upheaval in Athens brought former King Constantine from his home on the outskirts of London to a conference with the British government and then he moved into a hotel in the West End. Apparently he was hoping he would be called back to the throne he fled in 1967 after an unsuccessful attempt to overthrow the military regime.

The British government was reported extremely cautious toward the 34-year-old ex-king. "We are not in the kingmaking business," said one British official.

The Greek military regime abolished the monarchy on June 1, 1973, and a national referendum the next month confirmed the abolition.

News of the government change in Athens caused surprise and a restrained but unconcealed feeling of relief in U.S. government circles in Washington.

Officially, the Nixon administration declined comment. Senior officials were more reserved than usual and advised caution, but Caramanlis is highly regarded in Washington.

Oil profits skyrocket

NEW YORK (AP) — Several oil companies say rises in crude oil prices on domestic and foreign markets helped to sharply boost their profits during the second quarter of this year.

Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, the nation's sixth largest oil firm, reported on Tuesday that after-tax profits for the three months ended last June 30 were 131 per cent more than the earnings in the same period of 1973.

Shell Oil Co., seventh biggest, said its second-quarter earnings rose 39 per cent. Cities Service Co., 14th in size, reported a 76 per cent gain and Tenneco Inc., a conglomerate with significant oil operations, said its net more than doubled.

For the latest quarter, Indiana Standard registered earnings of $280 million on revenues of $2.47 billion. In the comparable period last year, $121.3 million was earned on revenues of $1.53 billion.

Its profits during the first six months this year totaled $499 million, compared to $242.5 million in 1973.

Shell earned $124.5 million in the latest quarter, compared with $89.5 million in the like period a year earlier. First-half profits of $246.4 million outdistanced the $169.8 million earned in the first six months of last year.

Cities Service, which retails as Citgo, said second-quarter profits this year totaled $53.8 million on revenues of $674.2 million.

Lucasville inmate said wounded

LUCASVILLE, Ohio (AP) — James Lacey, 27, who is serving a 10-to 25-year term in the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility for armed robbery, was wounded Tuesday in the prison, officials said.

Officials said Lacey was stabbed in the back with a homemade knife, but they withheld the name of the inmate suspected in the wounding. Lacey was transferred to the Correctional Medical Center in Columbus.

Mayor Perk tours county fairground

Ralph Perk, the Republican mayor of a city which has an eight-to-one Democratic voter registration, toured the Fayette County Fairground Tuesday evening.

Arriving at the Fayette County Airport about 6 p.m., Perk and his party traveled to the Fair where they greeted area residents and viewed the grounds for about an hour.

He was forced to leave after only a short visit to appear at the Lawrence County Fair in Proctorville.

Perk commented that he enjoyed meeting people in non-formal settings and was glad that he was able to schedule a visit to Washington C.H. during Fair week. He said that he first came to a Fayette County fair in the 1950s when he was campaigning for other political candidates.

Little did he know at that time that he would be returning now as a candidate for the U.S. Senate. He is opposed by Democrat John Glenn on the November ballot for the Senate seat vacated by the appointment of William Saxbe to the position of Attorney General.

Accompanying him here were a security agent, Ed Harris, and his chief advance man, Stuart Colville, as well as a communications agent. They were met by Clyde Cramer, Perk's campaign coordinator in Fayette County.

Perk, who became the 51st mayor of Cleveland in 1971, was the first Republican to be elected to the office in 30 years and won by the largest percentage in the last decade, drawing better than 61 per cent of the votes.

A native of Cleveland, Perk served five terms on the city council and three terms as Cuyahogo County auditor before becoming mayor. In 1970 he drew 140,000 votes as a candidate for auditor, more than any other Republican had received in any election in the history of the county.

He proposes to fight inflation by seeing that a balanced budget is offered to the President. He says that this method has been successful in Cleveland where he inherited a $27 million deficit which he has overcome, producing balanced budgets in succeeding years.

Rip judge for remark

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Attorneys for the Cincinnati Board of Education have criticized a federal judge for alleged remarks refuting the attorneys' line of defense in a segregation suit.

The criticism surfaced in a 25-page memorandum filed Tuesday relating to a conference July 10 in the chambers of U.S. District Court Judge David S. Porter.

The memorandum said Porter "shocked counsel by stating: 'I have the impression that Tina Deal is dead as a Dodo bird.'"

The board won the celebrated Deal case in 1968 and the U.S. Supreme Court refused to review the case in 1971.

Knight Baroness tops OCRA pacing field

Knight Baroness, driven by R.J. Brown, captured the Ohio Colt Racing Association's Stakes for two year-old pacers with consecutive victories in two heats of the 14 heat racing card featured at the Fayette County Fairgrounds, Tuesday evening.

During that same card Tuesday, a Texas owned colt named Coal Smoke, with Cliff Huber in the sulky, out-classed his running mates, as he easily picked up the OCRA Stakes for two year-old trotters. Coal Smoke's winning time was 2:13.2, while Knight Baroness's winning time was also the fastest time of the evening, clocked at 2:07.3 for the mile.

Only one Fayette County owned horse was found in the winner's circle Tuesday night. Jolly Flame, owned by Robert Haynes and D. Williams of Washington C.H., turned the mile in 2:12.1 to better an 11 horse field in the eighth race.

One of the largest daily doubles even seen at a Fayette County Fair was turned in Tuesday when Knight Baroness and Erly Vall paid off $152.60. In the second race, Erly Vall paid $21.40 to win. In the fifth race, the money pay off was big again as Abbey's Dream paid $33.40 to place.

Tonight, one of the largest cards (16 races) in the Fair's history hits the track at 7 p.m., instead of the regular 7:30 starting time. Grandstand admission again will be free of charge. The card features the Ohio Colt Racing Association's stakes for three year-old pacers.

Last night's pari-mutuel handle of $14,373 was the largest ever recorded at the Fayette County Fair's racing program.

Pair could reclaim Celtics

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two businessmen could reclaim the Boston Celtics under terms of a federal court jury decision in a breach of contract suit over sale of the National Basketball Association team to its present owner.

The jury awarded $4.2 million to Harold Lipton and Irving Levine, deciding that Celtics owner Robert J. Schmetz broke an oral agreement made when he purchased the team from them in May 1972.

Lipton, an attorney, and Levine, a business consultant, bought the Celtics in April 1972 for $3.7 million but were forced to sell the club when the NBA Board of Governors refused to approve the purchase.

The league said ownership was rejected over possible conflicts of interest because the Beverly Hills businessmen were both on the National General Corp. board of directors with Sam Schulman, owner of the Seattle SuperSonics.

The sale to Schmetz, who also owns the World Hockey Association New England Whalers, was for the same amount Levine and Lipton paid for the club, but included an oral agreement for an additional $250,000 payment and an option allowing the two businessmen to repurchase half of the Celtics' stock.

The suit by Lipton and Levine contended they never received the $250,000 and Schmetz refused to honor the repurchase agreement.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — For some it was a busman's holiday. For a bus man's son, it was a dream come true.

"The seeds were planted when I was four, five and six," said Steve Garvey of the Los Angeles Dodgers, named the Most Valuable Player in Tuesday night's All-Star Game after leading the National League to a 7-2 victory over the American League.

"My father drove the team bus for the Dodgers in spring training and I got to know them all—Gil Hodges, Carl Furillo, Roy Campanella, Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax.

"They all were All-Stars and I always hoped that someday I'd be one. Gil Hodges was my idol and here I was playing his position in the All-Star Game."

Garvey's name didn't even appear on the computer ballot for this 45th All-Star Game, but the nation's fans responded with more than one million write-in votes to make him the starting first baseman.

Garvey responded to that by delivering two key hits and a sparkling defensive play during a full nine-inning stint as the National League continued its dominance over the American, winning its 11th game in the past 12. The NL now leads the series 26-18-1 after being behind 12-4.

Five NL pitchers held the American to four hits, causing losing Manager Dick Williams to lament: "You can't do much with four hits."

Gaylord Perry, starting pitcher for the AL, retired the first five NL batters before Garvey singled in the second. Dodgers teammate Ron Cey then drove in Garvey with a double.

In the third inning Garvey made a brilliant backhand stab of Bobby Murcer's hot grounder to end the inning.

The AL already had two runs in that inning and two runners on base.

In the fourth, with the Americans leading 2-1, Johnny Bench and Jimmy Wynn, another Dodger, singled. Garvey doubled in one run and Wynn later scored on Cey's groundout.

And although it was not obvious then, Garvey, playing despite an ear infection, had done in the American League.

Joe Garvey, who drives a bus in Tampa, Fla., and his wife were among the standing-room only crowd of 50,706 at Three Rivers Stadium to see their son.

Asked if he contributed any write-in ballots, the elder Garvey beamed: "I'd say the family contributed a couple of hundred. We weren't going to come here. Instead we were going to Atlanta next weekend so we could see three games. But I told my wife that we only live once, let's go."

It was one of the best trips the Garveys ever took.

In the AL dressing room Williams said: "With a group like that—Cey, Garvey, Wynn and Mike Marshall—that's probably why the Dodgers are where they are."

Marshall pitched the last two innings, after strong performances by Messersmith, Ken Brett, Jon Matlack, and Lynn McGlothen. Brett, the only Pittsburgh Pirate on the squad, was credited with the victory after working the fourth and fifth innings.

Managers change tunes in All-Star aftermath

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Yogi Berra, who had little to say about the matter beforehand, observed with his usual wisdom that "we were out to win, too."

Dick Williams, who before had a lot to say about the importance of a victory, muttered, "So what."

Reggie Jackson said the same thing. Their tune had changed after Berra's National League All-Stars beat Williams' American League All-Stars 7-2 Tuesday night.

The American League, from President Lee MacPhail to Manager Williams, made a big thing before the 45th All-Star Game of winning at all cost. MacPhail went as far as strongly urging that no American League All-Star pitcher work last Sunday to be ready for the Nationals.

The National League was conspicuous by its silence before the game. But Berra's gang spoke loudly during it with their bats, defense and pitching. And when it was over it was the same old story. Three National League wins in a row, 11 of the past 12.

Williams had promised to keep his best players in the game, even if some others didn't play. He had a few problems keeping his word. Two of his brightest offensive stars, first baseman Dick Allen and second baseman Rod Carew, played 2 1-2 innings each.

Williams explained that Allen fouled a ball off his ankle and Carew was "banged up a little" in a third inning slide at second.

"I'm not going to take a chance on injuring someone else's player," Williams said.

Berra made only two substitutions through the first five innings. "It was still close," said Berra, whose team led 4-2 after five.

"I kept checking on (Steve) Garvey's ear infection," Berra said, referring to the Los Angeles first baseman who was selected the game's Most Valuable Player. "I would like to manage this team," he gloated. "I could be a push button manager."

Reggie Smith, a two-time American League All-Star now with the National League St. Louis Cardinals, said the Nationals were faster and play more aggressive baseball. Smith hit the game's only home run.

Jackson, who polled 3.5 million votes, the highest ever in All-Star balloting, took the defeat lightly.

"We got beat, so what?" said the outfielder, who went 0-for-3 with a pair of strikeouts.

Williams said the string of setbacks didn't prove National League superiority, and uttered a so what, too.

The 25-year-old Garvey was the only write-in vote to gain a starting position on the All-Star team. He rewarded his 1,083,489 backers by earning the MVP award.

"I can't express in words themselves my thanks to the people who got me here," Garvey said.

"It's not my trophy, it's theirs," said Garvey after accepting the award. He played despite an ear infection that had sidelined him since Wednesday.

Ken Brett of the Pittsburgh Pirates, received a standing ovation from the home fans at the Pirates' Three Rivers Stadium, pitched two scoreless innings and was the winning pitcher.

NFL strike entering 24th day

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

With the National Football League players' strike entering its 24th day today and the prospect of resuming negotiations between players and management still dim, it's time now, it seems, to begin wondering, "What if?" Chicago Bears owner George Halas threw in perhaps the biggest "if" Tuesday.

He said he would rather cancel the entire NFL season than allow the NFL Players Association to eliminate the so-called Rozelle rule.

The Rozelle rule, which involves compensation decided by Commissioner Pete Rozelle for teams losing a player, is one of the "freedom demands" blamed for a current impasse in negotiations.

Negotiations between the NFL Management Council and NFL Players Association broke off Monday, and no future sessions have been scheduled by federal mediator James Searce.

"It's impossible to give in on freedom of choice," Halas said in a telephone interview, "It's the backbone of the NFL."

The 79-year-old Halas, a founder of the NFL, said he had not decided to cancel the Bears' season, but he said it was now up to the players to offer a counterproposal.

"It would be tough to call off the season, but it would have to be done to save the league," Halas said.

"Halas' is a very typical sentiment," said Terry Bledsoe, a spokesman for the NFLMC, who said there now are 123 veterans in NFL camps, after the arrival Tuesday of veterans Jim Otto, Fred Biletnikoff and Jim Warren in the Oakland Raiders' camp.

Another NFLMC official, chief counsel Theodore Kheel, said he was pessimistic about progress in resolving the strike and also disputed a players' contention that they had backed off some of their demands.

Meanwhile in Washington, Edward Bennett Williams, president of the Redskins, said he would field a team for all scheduled games, both pre-and regular-season.

In Canton, Ohio, the public relations director for the Hall of Fame, Donald Smith, reiterated that the shrine's Hall of Fame benefit contest Saturday "still is on."

It is scheduled for 4 p.m., EDT, Saturday at Fawcett Stadium between the St. Louis Cardinals and Buffalo Bills, and will be nationally televised by ABC with an expected 18,000 in the stands and 22 rookies, free agents and a few veterans on the field.

In the training camps, preparations continued for other preseason contests. The Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers have a game-type scrimmage scheduled for Thursday, and NFLPA pickets say they will be there.

No veterans have reported to the Bears' camp.

In Hiram, Ohio, four more Cleveland Browns veterans checked into camp, raising the number of veterans in camp to eight.

The New England Patriots and Philadelphia Eagles each gained another veteran in camp Tuesday.

At Wilmington, Ohio, the Cincinnati Bengals worked out with 18 veterans in camp, and cornerback Bob Jones, a second-year man, said he felt there will be some disharmony among players when strikers return to the team.

Hank Aaron eyes manager's position

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Henry Aaron won't be the Atlanta Braves next manager.

But he caught the Braves' front office by surprise with his statement Tuesday that he probably would accept an offer to manage the club "simply because there are no black managers in baseball."

"Tonight is the first time I've had any idea that Hank is interested in a managerial career," Braves' owner Bill Bartholomay said after Aaron's revelation during the All-Star Game.

The Braves, who on Sunday fired Eddie Mathews as field boss, were to name an interim manager at news conference here today.

There was no chance it would be Aaron.

The leading candidate for the job was Clyde King, a former San Francisco Giants' manager, but there still will have to be a permanent appointment made later.

In any case, baseball's alltime home run king appears to have put the Braves in an awkward position for when they do choose a fulltime successor.

"I haven't talked to Hank since

Arnie returns to site of first victory

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (AP) — Arnold Palmer returns to the scene of his first victory—now almost 20 years back—and Tom Weiskopf returns to the site of his last triumph, in this week's $200,000 Canadian Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer and Weiskopf head a strong field of 150—almost all of them toughened American stars—arrayed for the Thursday start in this national championship that offers the winner $40,000 and a spot in the four-man field for the World Series of Golf.

Only a handful of the name players are missing as the tour moves into its most lucrative portion of the schedule.

In the next eight weeks, more than $1.8 million in prize money will be at stake, and the big guns of the game, many of whom haven't played in the United States since the American Open, are moving back into action for a shot at the big money events.

The field also includes Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Johnny Miller, five of the year's top 10 money-winners and a dozen players who have won American tour titles this year.

The major absentees are Masters and British Open champion Gary Player, at home in South Africa, U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin, veteran Billy Casper, Hubert Green, Jerry Heard and Buddy Allin.

Miller, the season's top winner with $204,000 in prize money and five titles, remains a questionable starter on the eve of the 72-hole event. His wife is expecting their third child momentarily.

The 44-year-old Palmer scored the first of his 61 North American victories in the Canadian Open in 1955. Although he hasn't won in almost two years, he played some of his best golf of the period in his last three starts.

Weiskopf is the defending champion. This was the last of his official tour titles in 1973.

Other standouts include 1974 winners Jim Colbert, Rod Curl, Bob Menne, Allen Miller, Bobby Nichols, Leonard Thompson, Tom Watson and Richie Karl, winner of last week's B.C. Open.

Money Does Matter . . .

By R. W. Tice

TEACH THEM TO WORK FOR THEIR SPENDING MONEY!

Speaking about the "value of money" in one of his recent WORRY CLINIC newspaper columns, Dr. George Crane said:

"Value MUST develop from callouses on our palms, plus elbow grease, sweat and forswearing play in favor of work!"

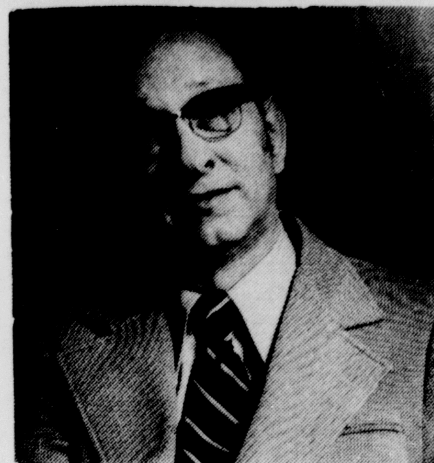

"There is no other way to obtain an appreciation of money values!"

"That's why many playboy heirs of wealthy parents will gamble heavily at Las Vegas. For money means little to them when they haven't worked and sacrificed to earn it."

"Earned money thus is spent frugally whereas gift money, as by the unwise 'allowance' plan for kiddies, is more likely to be squandered."

"'Easy come; easy go,' is the pioneer adage Congress needs to learn."

"Gift money encourages the dole psychology, where people learn to wait for somebody else to look after them, a la welfare."

"So, teach the kiddies to work for their spending money!"

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Paralysis of the Face

Two days after I had a complete examination and was found to be in perfect health I suddenly developed paralysis of the face. Could this attack have been prevented? Does the face ever return to normal?

Mr. T.N.S., Ind.

The condition you describe may be a paralysis of the muscles of the face called Bell's palsy, named after Sir Charles Bell who first recognized it.

A large nerve known as the "facial nerve" can be affected by a virus, exposure to a draft or injury during surgery of the mastoid bone.

This facial nerve has three branches. The first is distributed to the forehead. The second goes to the upper eyelid. The third controls the muscles around the lips and the lower part of the face.

People with Bell's palsy have difficulty raising their eyebrows, closing the eyelid, and find it impossible to whistle. It is purely coincidental that this happened shortly after you were examined and found to be in perfect health.

A number of people with facial paralysis are found to have been exposed to a constant draft while driving an automobile with the draft window open. Perhaps this explains why Bell's palsy seems to occur more often on the left side.

Early treatment with cortisone and stimulation of the face muscles and the facial nerve with electric currents make the chance of recovery excellent.

Each individual case must be specifically studied to choose the ideal form of treatment.

Why do some people tend to faint more easily than others? Miss N.B., Va.

Dear Miss B.:

The process of fainting is technically known as syncope. It is caused by a temporary sudden reduction of the flow of blood and oxygen to the brain.

Hunger, drugs or a severe emotional upset may be responsible for the change in the blood flow. Even a rapid change of position can cause fainting.

The threshold for fainting varies with different people. Some react more violently to a stimulus than do others. There is no specific profile suggesting that one person rather than another will have a greater tendency to fainting.

The island of Newfoundland is separated from the mainland by the Strait of Belle Isle, about nine miles wide at the narrowest point.

Steel strikes at standstill

By The Associated Press

More than 1,600 steelworkers were idled for a second day when negotiations to end strikes at two Ohio manufacturing plants remained at a standstill Tuesday.

Joseph K. Kemple, president of the Flexible Manufacturing Co. in Loudenville, said he met briefly Tuesday with council members of United Steel Workers Local 4781, but no further meetings were planned.

"We've made our final offer," Kemple said, "and as far as I'm concerned that's it."

Kemple said 1,300 workers walked off the job Monday after failing to ratify a three-year contract providing a $1.39 hourly increase.

Kemple blamed the contract rejection on "a rowdy faction within the union" which refused to let the bargaining committee present the agreement to the membership.

Union officials could not be reached for comment.

Meanwhile, the management at the Reynolds Metals Fabricating plant in Ashville issued a statement saying they would not meet with striking workers until they returned to work.

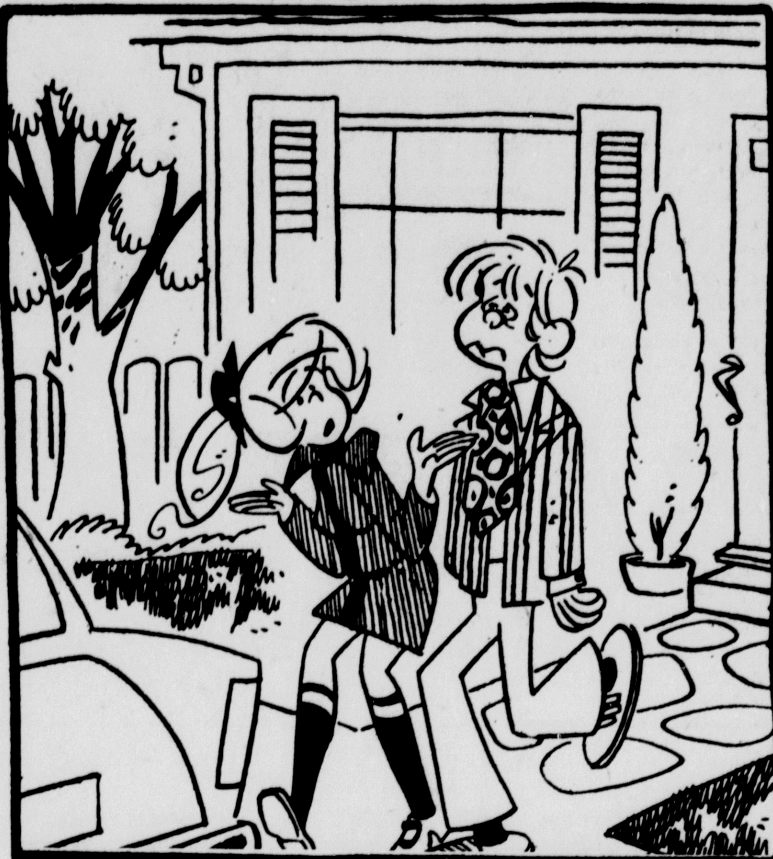

A company spokesman estimated that 320 members of USW Local 7993 took part in the wildcat walkout that began Monday.

The company's statement said the firm is willing to discuss grievances or other problems, but not until "employees involved in this illegal activity return to work."

Union leaders were not available for comment, but earlier Local President George Coy said he was seeking international approval of the walkout, which was held to protest work and safety conditions at the building products plant.

Some 10,000 Mounties now enforce federal laws in Canada.
